

Treatment for Love and Compassion

I recognize the Divine Source, I see It all around me and within me. I now see the oneness in mind. I know the truth of my being, perfect in every way. I sense my spiritual self, reaching out to offering grace and well being to others. The Divine Spirit within me sees others as one in the same, as me, therefore I treat myself with love and compassion. The Divine in me recognizes the Divine in you and together there is only one – Source, one power, one presence, I am grateful to be in alignment with spirit showing the love of universe to myself and to others. And so it is!

Richard Austin, RScP (Licensed Practitioner)